Planning your portal story

Today you are going to plan your portal story. Think about the following:

- Who your characters are going to be (think about how you will describe them)
- Where your story will be set
- Where the portal will take your character
- What will happen to them when they get there
- What they might have to overcome
- How they will get back to normal

Think about your plot – you could draw a quick story map to plan your plot and help you write your story.
